Dear Sir or Madam

Consultation 'Planning Policy Wales: Edition 10'

CIWM Cymru Wales have received a copy of the above draft for comment as part of your consultation process.

The Chartered Institution of Wastes Management (CIWM) is the professional body which represents over 5,000 waste and resources management professionals, predominantly in the UK but also overseas. The CIWM sets the professional standards for individuals working in the waste and resources management industry and has various grades of membership determined by education, qualification and experience.

CIWM is recognised as the foremost professional body representing the complete spectrum of the waste and resources management industry. This gives the Institution the widest possible view and, perhaps more pertinently, an objective rather than partial view, given that our goal is for improvement in the management of all wastes and resources.

The Cymru Wales Centre Council of the Chartered Institution of Wastes Management welcomes the opportunity of contributing to the Consultation on the Welsh Government's proposed revision to Planning Policy Wales in light of the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015.

General comments:

CIWM Cymru Wales agrees with the content of this consultation, in relation to waste and resource management, and support the proposed changes.

There is one specific question CIWM Cymru Wales wishes to respond to in relation to the resources and waste management sector:

Q28: Do you agree with the approach taken to promoting the circular economy and its relationship to traditional waste and minerals planning as contained in the draft PPW? If not, please explain why.

CIWM Cymru Wales agrees with the approach as the policies outlined do not change any planning policies for resources and waste but actually improves the existing system in terms of encouragement for sustainable waste management.

Should you have any query with regards to our response, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Kind regards
